

Exercise 2.4.13

Kevin Martin
CIS675 - Syracuse University

January 16, 2020

The worst case running time of the median sort algorithm is  $O(n^2)$ . The poor runtime is based on the selection of the random "median". If the median is too small, it leaves the majority of the list unsorted. This requires more and more recursive calls until the solution is ultimately found.